

More than just
Your regional network for the sensor industry

www.sensorik-bayern.de

Sensor and measurement technology are enabling technologies – the efficiency of technological performance is driven by people. To combine these competencies and smart organizations across the borders of companies, clusters and industries and making them visible is the operational and strategic focus of our activities – this is more than just networking.

What is special about our sensor network?

- Smart people for smart technology: collaboratively identify and evaluate trends and technologies and implement new solutions
- Holistic thinking: offers for the development of “people – technology – organization”
- “From the sensor to the cloud”: know-how along the data value chain
- Learning from and with each other at eye level: exchange of expertise and knowledge from operational practice in a familiar setting
- Accessibility: short distances for joint long-term success
- Regional competence becomes visible internationally
