

eesy-ic is a dynamic and fast growing company. We push good ideas and develop innovative products, which should sustainably improve our lives in the future. Our mission is to provide the best quality, the highest reliability and the maximum customer orientation.

For our location in Erlangen we are looking for a

Test & Verification Engineer (f/m/d)

Key Responsibilities:

- Development of verification solutions for Integrated Circuits (Mixed-Signal and RF)
- Tasks include:
 - Concept and planning of verification measurements
 - PCB-Design
 - Development of Software for Automation
 - Execution of functional and parametric verification for various IC products
 - Statistical Analysis of measurement results and report generation

Requirements:

- Degree in electronic engineering or similar degree
- Programming in MATLAB, C++, C# or similar is a plus
- Experience in PCB-Design is a plus (Altium or Mentor)
- Basic understanding of statistics and statistical analysis
- Fluent in German and English
- Good team communication skills
- Self-reliant and reliable work style/Willing to take responsibility

Our employees are the most important success factor of our company. They always do their best to achieve their goals and objectives. Here you will find the spirit of innovation, exciting projects and challenges.

You are a reliable and results-driven team player. You desire to develop the trendsetting ideas. You find it easy to learn new things and to apply them in practice. You can quickly adapt to new situations, understand complex problems and take new paths to find the best possible solutions. Then you have to come to us. Please apply via email at career@eesy-ic.com

We are looking forward to hear from you!